The Harbour chair

Written with cssMode set to standard.

The red badge, at the foot of the page, is a positioned block with line-height: normal. Standard: its three lines are as far apart as lines of the same size in the flow. Legacy: they are set at a fixed 1.33.

The lead paragraph sets letter-spacing: 0.08em and word-spacing: 0.3em at 12.6pt, and the small run in it is 60% of that. Standard: the small run is spaced as widely as the paragraph. Legacy: its spacing is read again at its own size, and is narrower.

Hand-built in oak, finished in linseed oil and guaranteed for ten years

Why it lasts

Each card has padding: 0.8em at 10.8pt; the note in it is 0.75em and sets padding: inherit. Standard: the note's text is indented as far as the card's. Legacy: the note has no padding of its own.

Solid oak frame, jointed without screws.

Joints are pegged, so the frame can be tightened after years of use.

Seat woven from paper cord.

The cord is replaceable, and a kit comes with every chair.

Prices

The table is 1.1em of the body's 9pt, its header row group 120% of that, and the small row 80%. Standard: the header is 11.9pt and the small row 7.9pt. Legacy: the header and the small row are 9.9pt, as a row group and a row hand their cells nothing.

A right-to-left span wraps the testimonial and a block that credits it. Standard: after the block, as before it, the Hebrew word is to the right of the brand name. Legacy: after the block it is to the left.

A highlighted run, italic with a gold shadow, is interrupted by a block. Standard: the words before the run are upright and unshadowed. Legacy: they take the run's shadow, and the block and the words after it lose the highlight.
