mPDF

An empty textarea

Every field below is a textarea. The ones on the left are empty and the ones on the right hold a word, and an empty one has to be drawn the same size as a filled one rather than leaving a gap where a field should be.

Opening the document

Two in a row

second

In a table

	cell
An empty one on its own in the cell	One holding a word

Inside a pre

The space that draws the field is kept without putting the parser into pre mode, so the indentation around it is left alone.

```
  indented before after indented
```