What a measured block must not leave behind

Every card below is kept together. The first page has its own background colour and footer, and one watermark naming it, all of which stay as they are when the cards that do not fit here move on (the first card to move sets the next page's watermark as it opens). The coloured panels in the last card move with it, and the plain table in front of the cards, which is what leaves a place on this page for table backgrounds to land, gets nothing behind it.
