

Case 1. A table kept together follows the heading: the heading and the table both stand at the top of the next page, and this page ends with filler.

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Heading

Row 1

Row 2

Row 3

Row 4

Case 2. A block kept together follows the heading: the heading and the five lines all stand at the top of the next page.

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Heading

Line 1
Line 2
Line 3
Line 4
Line 5

Case 3. The paragraph's first line does not fit under the heading; the heading and the line both stand at the top of the next page.

[illegible]

Heading

First line of the paragraph.

Case 4. The heading and the paragraph's first line both fit at the foot of this page, so both stay there and the next case starts the next page.

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Filler

Heading

First line of the paragraph.

Heading

First line of the paragraph.

Case 6. A heading, a subheading and a paragraph in a row: all three stand at the top of the next page.

[illegible]

Heading

Subheading

First line of the paragraph.

Case 7. A table not kept together starts on the next page: the heading goes with its first row.

[illegible]

Heading

Row 1

Row 2

Row 3

Row 4

Row 3

Row 4

Case 9. A block almost a page tall could not share a page with the line after it either: it fills the next page and the line starts the one after.

Tall block

First line of the paragraph.

Case 10. Inside a table cell the heading is left alone: the row moves whole to the next page.

[illegible]

Heading

First line of the paragraph.