word-break and overflow-wrap

A URL in a 30mm block

Neither property set: the URL is cut where each line is full, as before.

see https://example.com/documents/annual-report-2026.pdf now overflow-wrap: normal: the URL on a line of its own, running out of the right of the box.

see https://example.com/documents/annual-report-2026.pdf now word-break: keep-all: the same, running out of the box.

see https://example.com/documents/annual-report-2026.pdf now

overflow-wrap: break-word: the URL starts on its own line and is cut at the edge.

see https://example.com/documents/annual-report-2026.pdf now word-wrap: anywhere: the same, read as overflow-wrap.

see https://example.com/documents/annual-report-2026.pdf now

word-break: break-all: the URL starts after "see" and every line is full to the edge.

Right-aligned: "see" and "now" at the right, the overflowing URL still starting at the left.

rtl: the word ends at the right of the box and runs out of its left.
