Combining marks after a capital

DejaVu Sans has a capital form of some combining marks and not of others. The lowercase column is the mark as written; the capital column is the form drawn over a capital letter. Read down the second table: each mark should be its own, not the grave of the first row above.

Marks with a capital form

|                   |     |
|-------------------|-----|
| grave U+0300      | À à |
| acute U+0301      | Á á |
| circumflex U+0302 | Â â |
| tilde U+0303      | Ã ã |
| dieresis U+0308   | Ä ä |

Marks with no capital form

|                        |     |
|------------------------|-----|
| macron U+0304          | Ā ā |
| overline U+0305        | Ā ā |
| hook above U+0309      | Ả ả |
| comma above U+0313     | Ả ả |
| double overline U+033F | Ī ī |

Gurmukhi stress signs

The udatta sits above the letter and the anudatta below it. Both were given the bindi's adjustment instead - on the baseline, and to the left of where the bindi itself is drawn.
